

attempting to use that machine, with no luck. I simply give up. I will no longer attempt to use any of these machines. With limited cafeteria options now, and vending machines not working properly I am finished with NIH and their inability to offer staff machines that work properly. This is the premier biomedical research hospital in the nation, and the fact that you cannot maintain proper working conditions of your vending machines tells me just how much you care about the staff that works here.

We appreciate whatever help you can provide.

Thanks

Carole
